

Colloquium Speaker | Hong Yu Wong: "Intelligence and the possibility of technology"

I will introduce technology as a hallmark of humanity and ask how technology is possible, leading into an investigation of intelligence.

I will argue for a pluralistic account of intelligence and how this allows us to better understand human technology and culture, partly through a conception of extended intelligence. I then return to examine the implications for philosophical and evolutionary anthropology.